Volumes by C. Daniel Crews and Richard W. Starbuck; HB; In the mid-eighteenth century, members of the Moravian Church, which had its origins in Central Europe, began conducting mission work among the Cherokee people. Their archives, now housed in North Carolina, include valuable records of their contact with the Cherokees. Although written by missionaries and from their perspective, the documents contained in these volumes ranging from reports and minutes to diaries and correspondence provide great insight into Cherokee culture, society, customs, and personalities during this period.

Each volume of this set is also available separately at our online bookstore. Click on the links for each one above to purchase separately!

Just added to the Talbot Library Online Bookstore!

Bald Knobbers: Vigilantes on the Ozarks Fronier.

This is a comprehensive account of the activities of this vigilante group in the 1880's in Taney County, Missouri. The roots of its origins began with struggles along the region's border during the Civil War. There was a violent campaign for law and order, and is a fascinating story--neighbors against neighbors. It was an important part of the history of southern Missouri and Northwest Arkansas and the Civil War activities of the area.

This paperback book is by Elmo Ingenthron and Mary Hartman and Paperback. It includes photos and illustrations and is 320 pages

If you are in the area, this book is also available at the Talbot Library Bookstore located at:

P.O. Box 349
500 So. Colcord Ave
Colcord, OK 74338

Talbot Library and Museum to be vendors at Annual Symposium on the American Indian - April 16-17, 2015

4/12/2015

0 Comments

The Talbot Library and Museum (Colcord, OK) will be vendors at the Annual Symposium on the American Indian. This event is being held at the University Center at Northeastern State University (NSU) in Tahlequah, Oklahoma, on Thursday April 16 and Friday, April 17 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. We will be offering numerous books from the Talbot Bookstore with topics covering Native American history and genealogy. Do come by and see us there!

More information on the Symposium:

The theme of the 43rd annual Symposium on the American Indian is "Children: The Seeds of Change -- The Impact of Tribal Knowledge and Sovereign Rights on the Future of Cultural Identity." The history, education, human experiences, arts, social issues, and politics of tribal peoples will be examined through presentations, discussions, and cultural activities.

Activities will be presented on the 2nd and 3rd floors of the University Center, the Event Center, and the Webb Auditorium, with cultural activities taking place on the grounds of NSU. All events are free and open to the public.
