Our newest book is Number 8 in the series, Records of the Moravians Among The Cherokees!

Records of the Moravians Among The Cherokees, Volume 8 (1828-1830): March to Removal, Part 3" covers the brief span of just two and one half years, 1828-July 1830 when events sealed the fate of the Cherokees east of the Mississippi. Though some Cherokees had emigrated to the west, the majority chose to remain in their ancestral homeland. Changes came quickly, those who stayed were given choices of emigration or live as second-class citizens under Georgia laws.

We have just added this new book by Mabel Washbourne Anderson to our online store.....also available at the Talbot Library and Museum. This book is a revised edition paperback originally published in 1931. The author was the granddaughter of Rev.Cephas Washburn, missionary to the Cherokees. Stand Watie was her great-uncle. Great read! You can buy online by clicking here: The Life of General Stand Watie and Contemporary Cherokee History
